BOTH IN READINESS TO ENTER CONFLICT IF WAR BREAKS OUT

Italy and Ethiopia Have Troops Mobilized and Equipment Ready—Great Britain and France to Insist on Right to Advise Italy—Four Arbitrators Are Named

ROME, May 17 (CP-Havas).—Whether or not war should break out between Italy and Ethiopia, the two countries today are strategically ready and prepared for a conflict, the Havas Agency learned after an exhaustive study of the situation in Rome, in the East African colonies and at Addis Ababa. But owing to climatic reasons a campaign could not start until September.

In Ethiopia, seven provinces are mobilized, those of Harrar, Ogadeta, Arusi, Bale, Sidamo, Borana and Tigre. The most modern guns, airplanes, gas projectors and machine gun equipment have been accumulated by Emperor Haile Selassie. The emperor has personally visited these provinces on a tour of inspection.

In Ethiopia, public prayers are being offered for war.

METHODICAL MOBILIZATION
In Italy, 900,000 men are under arms, comprising the classes of 1911, 1912 and 1914, and three divisions of the regular army are on a war footing, along with two divisions of the Fascist militia. The transport of troops for the East has continued regularly since February 11.

As quickly as regiments leave for the East, new regiments are organized in Italy.

Regulations between the two countries are determined by the following factors:
1. Italy signed in 1906 an agreement with Great Britain and France regarding Ethiopia.
2. Italy signed in 1928 a treaty of amity with Ethiopia.

3. Italy and Ethiopia are both members of the League of Nations.

AGREEMENT TO CONSULT
Under the terms of the 1906 agreement, Italy, Great Britain and France agree to undertake no enterprise in Ethiopia without first consulting each other.

TOLL OF EARTH SHOCKS MOUNTS

Quakes Continue to Spread Death and Destruction in Iran

MOSCOW, May 17 (AP).—Reports from Tehran, capital of Iran, Persia, to the Tass (Soviet) News Agency tonight, said earthquakes which during two months have taken a toll of perhaps 1,000 lives, were continuing to spread death and destruction throughout much of the country.

In addition to 500 reported killed in the city of Shahr and vicinity, hundreds were said to have lost their lives at Masandaran, on the southern shore of the Caspian Sea.

SHOCKS CAUSE SLIDES

Availanches caused by earthquakes in the village of Deh and Abbad, about 120 miles from Tehran, crushed three workers' barracks, accounting for many victims. In a similar disaster in the village of Malden-Sang forty persons were killed and twenty-five injured.

A hospital and a textile plant were demolished at Shahr and nineteen nearby villages were destroyed. Refugees reported that the village of Kelarnud, which consisted of fifty houses, was so rapidly destroyed it seemed to be swallowed into the ground.

POPULATION ALARMED

ISTANBUL, May 17 (AP).—Fresh violent earth shocks occurred today at Kara, in the Dindag area, terrifying the population. Many persons evacuated their homes and camped out in the fields.

TRANSPORTATION STRIKE IS ENDED

Bus and Tram Services to Be Resumed in Dublin After Long Lockout

DUBLIN, May 17 (CP, via Reuters).—Dublin's bus and tram strike, which had crippled transportation for eleven weeks, ended today.

A ballot taken by the strikers resulted in acceptance of peace proposals advanced by Sean Lemass, Minister of Industry, by a vote of 1,112 to 605. The proposals provided for wage increases ranging from half a crown (sixty cents) to one guinea ($5), and confirmed the previous agreement for establishment of a conciliation board.

It was understood complete bus and tramway service would be resumed tomorrow.

Premier Bennett Says His Future in Politics Depends on His Health

Roosevelt Going Before Congress to Urge Support on Veto

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP).—President Roosevelt decided today to go in person before Congress to urge that it sustain his veto of the Bonus Bill. His plan to make the unprecedented personal veto appeal was outlined to reporters at his regular press conference a few minutes after the inflationary Patman Bill to pay the bonus with $2,000,000,000 in new currency had reached the White House.

Congressional leaders immediately set about arranging for the joint session of the House and Senate before which the President will appear, probably Monday. A quick thumbing of Washington precedents by veteran attaches of the White House and Capitol could find no record of any other President having gone before Congress to urge that it sustain him in a veto.

First United Is Triumphant Over Rival in Contest

W. A. Jameson Coffee Company Challenge Shield Transferred From Metropolitan United Church Choir to Winner After Exciting Vocal Competition to Close Day's Musical Festival

FIRST United Church Choir was triumphant in its contest with Metropolitan United Church Choir, last night, for possession of the W. A. Jameson Coffee Co. Challenge Shield. At 11:20 Dr. Gordon Slater wound up a carefully non-committal adjudication by announcing that the former choir had won the best marks, 172, scoring three more than the Metropolitan, which has held the shield since the last festival here.

MINE OFFICIALS LEAVE FOR COAST

GOLDENBRIDGE, B.C., May 17 (CP).—The Bridge River area, where gold miners have been on strike for thirteen days, marked time tonight as negotiations for settlement swung to the Coast. Supervising heads of Bralorne, Pioneer and Wayside have been summoned to Vancouver, and R. Bonasow, of Bralorne; H. T. James, Pioneer; and G. R. Bancroft, Wayside, left late this evening.

Directors are said to be in conference with Government officials, and the possibility was mooted that there might be a definite announcement tomorrow.

HORSE'S KICK FATAL

HEROISM MARKS DESTRUCTION OF CONVENT IN QUEBEC BY FIRE

Britain Will Reply To Invitation But Not Taking Hints

LONDON, May 17 (AP).—The British Government will recognize an invitation from America to stabilize currencies, well-informed British quarters said tonight, only if it is made directly through the British Embassy at Washington. Until this is done, it was stated, all statements and speeches by Secretary of State Hull and Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau will be just so much water flowing over the dam to the British.

NOT STRIKING IN SYMPATHY
Longshoremen Reject Proposal of Relief Camp Strikers

VANCOUVER, May 17 (CP).—The Vancouver and District Waterfront Workers' Association, which has already given some $2,000 in cash and other assistance to relief camp strikers, has turned down a proposal to go out on strike in sympathy with them.

Result of a vote taken on Wednesday and announced today showed 447 votes against a strike and 360 for. A 65 per cent favorable vote was necessary to call a strike.

HAVE OWN PROBLEMS
In the meantime, the longshoremen are concentrating on problems of their own in which they intend to ask the Shipping Federation of British Columbia for a general increase in wages to bring the level to that in United States Pacific ports and an eight-hour day and forty-four-hour week. They also wish control of the dispatch of labor to ships and docks. Preliminary negotiations are under way.

The relief camp strikers' situation remained quiet today following a parade yesterday to the City Hall and a threat thrown out by speakers that the next parade would be more serious.

STOCKISTS A PETITION
Dr. Lyle Telford, in an address, has told the strikers that the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation has contributed about all it can to their aid. He suggested that a petition be prepared, calling for the resignation of the Provincial Government, and advised the strikers against rowdiness.

IS FEELING FIT AGAIN BUT MUST TEST STRENGTH BEFORE REACHING DECISION IS GREATLY PLEASED WITH JUBILEE VISIT

QUEBEC, May 17 (CP).—Much improved in health and pronounced by leading London specialists to be "organically sound" but admittedly tired from his arduous labors of the last five years, Prime Minister R. B. Bennett arrived in Quebec today, en route to Ottawa, after attending the King's Silver Jubilee in London.

His future political career will be decided, he said, by two circumstances—his ability to perform the work attendant upon the office of Leader of the Government and the desires of his associates.

Mr. Bennett is sixty-four years old and, on his departure for England late in April, was just recovering from a two-months' illness involving a disturbance of the cardiac rhythm. While assured by two London specialists that his heart was organically sound he was told he should rest.

MUST TEST STRENGTH
Today the Prime Minister told reporters that he would be in his place in the House of Commons on Monday when Parliament resumes, and that he would be unfettered to fetch the cows.

The body was discovered in a hole under the shack, hidden beneath a large stove. The girl had been beaten to death by a piece from the stove.

SENTENCE NUN FOR SMUGGLING
Sister of Vincente Order Sent to Jail for Five Years in Germany

BERLIN, May 17 (AP).—Nazi justice moved swiftly and sternly today by sentencing the first of more than fifty nuns, on trial for violation of Germany's rigid foreign exchange restrictions, to five years imprisonment.

In addition, the defendant, Sister Wernera, secretary of the Vincentine Order of Roman Catholic Nuns of Cologne, was ordered to pay a fine of 140,000 marks (about $37,000) or spend an additional fourteen months in a cell. She will lose rights of citizenship during her imprisonment.

DEEPLY STIRRED
Catholic Germany was deeply stirred by the case. If the Government brings the other nuns to trial, Catholic circles said they expect the Vatican to declare the concordat between the German Government and the Holy See abrogated.

Sister Wernera admitted smuggling 250,000 marks from the country, and an equal amount. Judge Herman Jordan ruled must be collected from the Vincentine Order to reimburse the Government.

Province Planning Aggressive Policy For Mining Trails
Plans Being Developed for Construction of Trunk Trails to Main and New Mineral Areas This Year, as Employment Undertaking

OPENING of trunk mining trails throughout chief mineralized areas of the Province, including some on Vancouver Island, will form another part of the Government's plan to absorb a limited number of young men in work this year, Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, stated yesterday. Details of the scheme are now being worked out.

ON THIS ISLAND
In the Vancouver Island area by way of example, Mr. Pearson pointed to the inaccessibility of highly mineralized areas on the western slopes of the chief hill ranges, where a Government trail would be of great service. Kennedy Lake, Zeballos River, the Alberni region and other sections of the Island have

Sisters Awaken 150 Pupils and Lead Them to Safety as Flames Sweep Through Old Buildings—One Woman and Two Firemen Meet With Tragic Ends

All Students Escape Harm; Loss Estimated at $400,000

JOLIETTE, Que., May 17 (CP).—Inquiry began here tonight into a fire which early today claimed three lives—an aged nun and two firemen—as it laid waste the eighteenth century manor of the Seigneurie De Joliette, long since converted into a convent.

That the death toll was not far heavier was credited to heroism of the Sisters of the congregation of Notre Dame who, in night attire, hurried 150 pupils of the convent and adjoining normal school safely out of the burning buildings which were destroyed with damages estimated at $400,000.

"Children, arise for morning prayer. Hurry. You have overslept." With these words Mother Pasquel was able to get her charges to dress and leave the burning Normal School building here in an orderly fashion.

Mother Pasquel was warned by the janitor of the school, that it was on fire. The children were unaware that a fire was consuming another wing of the school.

SUFFERS HEART ATTACK
The nun, Sister Ste. Helen d'Auxerre, died of a heart attack after aiding in the rescue work, while Firemen Louis Charlier and Oscar Ferland, a volunteer, both of Joliette, were killed when an explosion sent a stone wall toppling over their heads. Two other firemen, also of Joliette, were critically injured.

Town authorities, headed by Chief Vincent Simard, of the police and fire departments, opened the inquiry, and announced that an inquest would be held in the morning. Chief Simard stated that, if necessary, aid of provincial police would be requested to handle the disasterous fire, but he believed it had been accidental.

A fireman found Sister Ste.

MIDGET BOATS LATEST WEAPON
Germany Builds Hundreds Of Small, Fast Craft Carrying Torpedoes

BERLIN, May 17.—Germany's newest naval weapon—swift "vest pocket" torpedo boats as revolutionary as her "vest pocket" battleships—was revealed today.

Foreign naval experts stationed here said the Reich already has constructed 450 tiny speed boats, capable of 60 knots each, and manned by five men and carrying four torpedoes.

A second similar development, the experts said, is another speed boat twice as large, carrying ten men and having an operating range of almost 2,000 miles.

Naval observers here, asserting the new craft would give other powers as much food for thought as the Reich's recently disclosed plans to build 250-ton submarines, listed these major advantages of the craft.

Their cost is little and their operation economical; their crew is small; they are so small and maneuverable that they would be hard to hit; their four torpedoes, with any kind of luck, can do damage to enemy ships.

The new naval weapon was disclosed even as cold water was thrown on suggestions that Pierre Laval, French Foreign Minister, might stop over at Berlin on his way home from Moscow and Warsaw and talk to Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler face to face.

RECALLING AIR RESERVES
ROME, May 17 (AP).—Reliable aviation circles said tonight that Premier Mussolini has started on a programme of gradual recall of some 5,000 veteran reserves to Italy's air services.

It was understood a guard had been placed recently near the cottage to which Lawrence had retired, and it was rumored he had asked for police protection. Officials asserted, however, the guard was posted there merely to watch the cottage in case of a possible approach of a health fire burning some distance away.

One rumor, generally discounted, was that Lawrence was ambushed and shot, and lost control of his motorcycle, just as two youthful cyclists approached—a theory which would explain how a crack rider, such as Lawrence was known to be, could have careened into an approaching cyclist. It was known both cyclists were warned not to comment on the accident.

MAN IS KILLED NEAR PRINCETON
Hedley, Resident Loses Control of Truck and Plunges Over Embankment

PRINCETON, B.C., May 17 (CP).—William Richardson, forty-five-year-old resident of Hedley, near here, was killed when the truck he was driving along the Hedley-Princeton Road skidded and plunged over a ten-foot embankment.

Although no one witnessed the accident, skid marks on the road indicated that Richardson lost control of his vehicle, which evidently struck the bank on one side of the road and then headed across to the other side and over the bank, striking the rockbed of Smith Creek.

Richardson had resided in this district for twenty-five years and is survived by his widow and several children.

Probe Into Charges Against R.C.M.P. Is Ended at Bathurst

Hon. Peter Veniot Says He Watched Liquor Being Smuggled Ashore Without Taking Steps to Inform Police Officers

BATHURST, N.B., May 17 (CP).—The Federal Government's Royal Commission investigation into Hon. Peter Veniot's misconduct charges against the Royal Canadian Mounted Police wound up tonight with the former Postmaster-General's declaration that he had twice watched smugglers land liquor in Bathurst Harbor, just below his home.

Once, the Gloucester County commoner said, he crept to within eighty feet of a smuggling crew while "bur-lap-covered packages were taken ashore from a boat and loaded into a truck. A few days later, he read press reports of a big liquor seizure near Bathurst. "I felt certain," he testified, "that was the goods landed there."

WATCHED FROM SICK ROOM
That was in late May or early June of 1932, he asserted. Again, in August of 1933, he said, he watched from his sick room one night while from thirty to thirty-five tin packages were landed from a boat under bright moonlight not far from his home.

Asked why he did not call the police on either occasion, Dr. Veniot replied that in 1933 he was unable to call them because of illness; and in 1932 he just did not.

THIRD DEGREE METHODS
Touching upon third degree methods which he charged against the R.C.M.P., Dr. Veniot declared he had been led to believe intimidation had been used in the questioning of Gordon Williamson in a hit-and-run auto death case. He felt he was justified in using this term, he asserted.

Dr. Veniot said he had seen the liquor dumping "from a distance only." Yesterday, several "teen-aged boys went on the stand to say they had become intoxicated on alcohol from the rumship Paul T. disposed of by R.C.M.P. officers at Bathurst.

In Bed With Neuritis Every Winter

Until Kruschen Brought Relief

"For three years," writes a woman, "I have been sick in bed about three months every winter with neuritis in my hips and legs. Last winter I started taking Kruschen Salts, and got relief from the first dose. This winter I have not been in bed at all."

Neuritis is a result of impurities in the blood. And it is impure blood, circulating all over the system and setting up inflammation in the tissues, that causes those excruciating pains. Kruschen Salts can be safely trusted to set the matter right. Because Kruschen contains just what Nature needs to persuade your internal organs back into a healthy normal condition. (Adv.)

Canadian Oxford Group Team to Visit City

For the extension of the Oxford Group movement, a national Canadian traveling team will pass through Victoria today, arriving on the afternoon boat from Vancouver at 3:30 o'clock, and proceeding an hour later to Seattle. The members have been conducting meetings in Vancouver, and plan gatherings in Seattle and Portland, after which they return to Victoria and spend next Thursday and Friday here.

The team, which is headed by Forde, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Haines, Dr. and Mrs. DuBois Morris, Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Kitchin, Mrs. Charles Carter, Miss Owen Carter, Dean Marjorie Carpenter (Hamilton), Dr. Ronald MacLeod, Professor T. R. Loudon, Mrs. Charles Lindsay, Mrs. Gordon Baldwin, Mrs. J. C. May, Goodwin Gibson, Mrs. L. G. Cronyn, George Dunning, E. W. Reynolds, Robert Williams, Harold Wesley (Toronto), Canon Quinton Warner, Dr. and Mrs. John Hunt (London), Brigadier-General and Mrs. W. G. Berman (Kingston), Mrs. J. A. Wilton, Mrs. Calder, Cecil Morrison, John Chivers, Graham Fraser (Ottawa), Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Simons, Millar Brittain (Saint John), Rev. S. Anderson (Halifax), Miss Carman Ganong (St. Stephen, N.B.), Lady Nanton, Paul Nanton (Winnipeg), and Keith Maybee (Toronto).

CHAIN LETTERS ARE NOW ENDED

Efforts to Revive Craze Fails—No New Missives In Circulation

A good many Victoria citizens drifted into a retrospective mood yesterday as they surveyed the "moping up" process of their chain-letter dreams. About all they got out of the victims was a shrug of the shoulders and a half-hearted smile that spoke volumes.

The chain-letter is as dead as last year's Christmas tree, and has just about as much chance of being revived. The "craze" has subsided and it may be a long time before chain-letters are mentioned around the family dinner table. Strange though it may seem, it was the male of the species that fell the hardest and did the most circulating, and if the family budget is a little shorter this week-end, friend wife will be justified in using the time-worn phrase "I told you so."

ISLAND "COVERED"

Some of the hard-to-be-convinced element of the population tried hard yesterday to get the thing going again, but from reports they had little encouragement. Some tried to tap the Up-Island source of supply, but found those places already "covered." Postal officials reported and did the most circulating, and if the family budget is a little shorter this week-end, friend wife will be justified in using the time-worn phrase "I told you so."

HEAR REPORTS OF CREDIT CONCLAVE

Resume of Seattle Parley Presented to Victoria Association at Luncheon

Reports on the first day of the Northwest Credit Conference held in Seattle on Monday and Tuesday of this week, were presented by Victoria delegates to the luncheon meeting of the Victoria Credit Grangers' Association, yesterday in the Dominion Hotel.

Lack of time prevented the reports of the Tuesday sessions, but these will be offered at a later meeting of the local organization.

It was announced that owing to the holiday next week, there would be no luncheon.

Walter Fletcher presented the report of the first speaker and luncheon speaker at the convention. Both were bankers, and their messages concerned primarily the United States.

Leonard Cox offered a resume of addresses presented at the morning sessions, while Lawrence Cunningham gave an outline of the entertainment activities at the session.

O. M. Prentice, president, presided.

Operatic and Bach Festival Classes Lauded by Judges

All Entries in Opera Field Awarded Certificates Due to High Standard—Chamber Ensemble Catches Will Spirit of German Master

UNQUESTIONABLY the outstanding classes at yesterday morning and afternoon sessions of the Victoria Musical Festival were the ladies' operatic class and the chamber ensemble devoted entirely to Bach. In the former, there were twelve contestants, and the standard was so high they were all awarded certificates. The adjudicator also highly commended the treatment of Bach by the chamber ensemble.

Touching upon the operatic class, George Dods said: "In studying operatic works, you must learn that it is not enough to do what you are told. You will never get anywhere that way. If you are told to do things, your brain is working, and will carry you only so far. You can have things that are vocally good, but artistically poor."

"If I told a lady to love me, she could not do it just because I told her. So if I say to a pupil you must feel anguish, she may not be able to, just because I have told her."

MUST STUDY

"To help yourself intellectually, you must understand all the relations, and it is necessary to read and study the opera as a whole, and then add the music. To do this you must seek yourself in the words until you are sick of them, and in this way, if you have imagination, Mr. Dods said, you can really feel the music in color. Good artistic sense and characterization come from a good picture," he declared, in concluding his general remarks.

Of the winner, Ida May Pollock, Vancouver, who obtained 96 marks, Mr. Dods said: "This singer knew her job and gave a fine performance." All other entrants received 80 marks or more.

Of Ronald Barker, winner of Class 90; grade 2, violin, Arthur Benjamin, the adjudicator, stated he held his fiddle too loosely. His intonation was fairly good, and the rhythm, good. His phrasing was not quite so good as it might have been. The entrant received 80 marks.

THRILLING PERFORMANCE

"I tell you it is not very often that such old hands at the game as Dr. Slater and I get that really thrilling feeling down the spine; but we did get it today when we heard these four marvelous attempts to catch Bach," the adjudicator said of Class 111, chamber ensemble.

Speaking of the winners, Mrs. Aldous, Maquinn Daniels and Mary Phillip, the judge stated: "The tone of the violin was something that I have not heard for a long while. The voice opened right. There was a very good quality and tone." The piano, he said, was beautifully smooth and quiet, and a lovely shape and phrasing. The performance was full of feeling and devotion.

YOUNG CHAMPION

"You have heard the best of their classes, and very good best they are too," Mr. Benjamin said of Class 101, junior strings championship. He paid tribute to Kay Campbell, Contestant of Vancouver, winner in this class. She gave a very accomplished performance. There was a fine graduation of tone. "She shows great promise and has a real style." He concluded his remarks by pointing out the player was only nine years old.

Kay Connor also won Class 91; violin junior. Her playing needed a

FIVE CONVICTED OF KIDNAPPING

Two Leaders in Bremer Conspiracy Sentenced to Life Imprisonment

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 17 (AP).—Another stunning blow at the kidnapping racket—life sentences for Arthur "Doc" Barker and Oliver Berg, leaders in the $200,000 Bremer conspiracy—followed quickly on their conviction by a Federal Court jury here today.

"Kidnaping," said Judge M. M. Joyce in pronouncing life terms on Barker, co-ringleader in the plot, and Berg, "is the one crime that the people of this country will not tolerate."

A jury brought guilty verdicts against five of the seven defendants in the trial for the crime against Edward G. Bremer, St. Paul banker, after twenty-one hours' deliberation. Edward Vidler and Philip Delaney, Chicagoans, whom the Government had accused of helping in changing the ransom payment into innocuous currency, were freed.

Sentencing of John J. McLaughlin, former Chicago politician accused of passing a large part of the ransom there, and of James J. Wilson and Harold Albertson, all convicted along with Barker and Mrs. Berg, was deferred.

LOU S. BARRACK IS RELEASED ON BAIL

VANCOUVER, May 17 (CP).—Lou S. Barrack was released on $12,500 bail yesterday after Retistir J. F. Mather had approved of bail sureties.

The release on bail is pending Barrack's appeal against his conviction and sentence to eleven years' imprisonment for living in part on the avails of prostitution and keeping a disorderly house.

NANAIMO WINS

The test selections were lovely, though difficult for Class 2, girls' choir, of not more than twenty-five voices and not under twenty. Mr. Dods declared the various choirs had responded to them beautifully. The winning choir was the Bastion Girls' Choir of Nanaimo, which secured 171 marks.

They had a nice easy tone and good words, Mr. Dods asserted. Their singing had color behind it. There was a fine expansion, and one clear rhythm. He had nice variety throughout the festival.

VANCOUVER TRIUMPHS

The Elgar choir had a natural and well-balanced tone, which was splendidly sustained and rang true. The real test, the adjudicator said, was the second piece, a quartet with a nice attack and the opportunity for contrast, was seized upon. The group gave a very artistic and cultured rendering, he remarked.

The Elgar choir group won again in Class 25; junior choirs of not less than twenty-five voices. They captured the J. C. Pendray Challenge Shield with 174 marks. Mr. Dods said the test pieces were both dangerous numbers inasmuch as they can be intensified to such an extent to make them useless. "We could hardly have had a clearer and clearer rhythm with flexible tone that we did with the winning choir," Mr. Dods asserted. "The voices were well controlled and had a fine spirit."

Gives Address on Game Fishing

COURTENAY, May 17.—Dr. C. McC. Motley was the guest-speaker at the bimonthly Board of Trade luncheon at the Courtenay Hotel on Tuesday. Those who attended heard an interesting address on the development of game fishing. Dr. Motley showed an intimate knowledge of the game fish of the province and explained the work of biological stations in the preservation and development of game fish. At the close the speaker was warmly thanked.

VETERAN OF NORTH DIES AT DAWSON

Rev. Charles F. Johnson Was Widely-Known Anglican Missionary

TRAPPED THE YUKON: ONCE THOUGHT LOST

Rev. Charles F. Johnson, veteran of the Church of England's Northern outposts and widely known and respected in the Yukon and Northwest Territories, passed away on Tuesday at St. Mary's Hospital, Dawson, Y.T., according to word received here yesterday. He had been ill for nine weeks and appeared to be recovering after two operations when he suffered a relapse, from which he failed to rally. Funeral services were held at Dawson yesterday.

Mr. Johnson had been in charge of St. Paul's Hotel at Dawson for the past ten years. For ten years prior to that he was in charge of the mission, and with Mr. Marsh, Mr. Johnson threw in his lot, becoming manager of the outdoor operations at the station and operator of the mission steamer on the Mackenzie River system.

Among the many and arduous journeys that he made while in the Territories, one in 1908 received wide public attention, when it was feared for some time that he, and the late Bishop I. O. Stringer, had perished. In the Spring of that year they visited the settlements on the Mackenzie River system, going as far as Herschel Island in the Arctic Ocean. During this trip they exhausted the remains of members of Franklin's Northwest Passage Expedition and rebuffed them away from the sea that was washing them away.

Returning to Fort MacPherson, Bishop Stringer and Mr. Johnson prepared to cross overland to the Yukon, following the Rat River to the summit, which is the most northerly pass through the Rockies, thence by the Bell and Porcupine Rivers to the Yukon. With three Indians accompanying them, they set out and all went well until one of the Indians took sick. When he was sufficiently recovered, Bishop Stringer returned with him to Fort MacPherson, then hurried back to rejoin Mr. Johnson, who had been pushing on ahead by canoe with his supplies.

BATTLED HARDSHIPS

At the summit the Indians returned home and the Bishop and Mr. Johnson continued on their way. In a few days they realized they would have insufficient food to last this trip, game being extremely scarce. Winter was setting in, and finally further progress by canoe was impossible. They decided to re-

THE RETURN HOME

After resting a month at the Fort, Bishop Stringer and Mr. Johnson started out again, this time with a party of Royal Northwest Mounted Police. Following the Peel River route, they reached Dawson in six weeks, the first all-while party ever to make the journey. They arrived at their destination in February, just when friends and relatives were abandoning hope of ever seeing them again.

Mr. Johnson then went "outside," where he remained for three years before answering the call of the church again to take charge of the Indian school at Carcross. In 1922, at Dawson, he was ordained by Bishop Arthur Sovereign. It was one of the first acts of a new bishop on his arrival at a new diocese, and fitting recognition of Mr. Johnson's long service in the cause of the church in its far-flung outposts.

SCARCITY OF FOOD

Still they pushed on. One packet of breakfast food they made do for breakfast for the two of them for a week, each taking a teaspoonful and eating from the palms of their hands. The rest of their diet consisted of muckluck soup and stew made by boiling the spare pieces of footwear that each had with him. The liquid was the soup and the boiled leather the stew. In this way meals for four days were obtained.

Eventually the weary, famished men came to the Peel. Now the traveling was easier on the ice-covered surface of the river, but still their situation was desperate. Then came the thrill of a lifetime: they encountered the tracks of men and a dog team, and soon after came upon the camp of a band of Indians. They were enthusiastically greeted and fed, and assisted over the rest of their journey—forty miles to Fort MacPherson. In six weeks on that terrible journey each had lost between six and sixty-five pounds in weight, both being men over 210 pounds.

Attempting to follow a map they had, they started back. Five days later they found themselves on the Rat River, when they had expected to journey east by the Peel, a shorter route. Then they decided to follow a compass course overland. Day after day it snowed, and when it did not, snow there was for so thick that there was no way of distinguishing between mountains and passes. When the snow became too deep for travel, Mr. Johnson made snowshoes by cutting leather thongs from their equipment. While they had ample clothing, their hands became so chapped from exposure to the skin on their fingers cracked to the bone.

Agencies Report Increased Sales Of Real Estate

Refusals of Offers Indicates Values Tending to Appreciate After Long Slump—Number of Houses Sold and Lots Changing Hands With New Owners Planning Dwellings

AN encouraging increase in real estate sales is reported by some of the local firms. A small apartment block in Rockland Avenue has changed hands twice during the past three weeks. In the first transaction the owners took over the residence from a local builder in part payment, this sale having been arranged by W. J. Gilliland & Co. A short time later, and after the new owner had painted and renovated the building and made some changes in the garden, the firm of John Greenwood sold it to a local investor.

Mrs. Ricardo has sold her residence and grounds on Island Road to a retired bank manager, this sale having been made by Oliver & Matheson. Some newcomers from Eastern Canada have purchased a large residence on Rock Street, with over an acre of grounds, from G. L. Challenor, this sale having been consummated by F. R. Fraser & Son.

VALUES APPRECIATING—Balestren report frequent instances of offers having been refused, which seems to show a tendency for values to come back a little after the long downward slump. Vacant lots in Oak Bay and Saanich are being picked up for building purposes in increasing numbers. One new subdivision out North Quadra way is now being surveyed, and a small tract now in acre lots is being cut into smaller parcels to meet the demand.

One of the larger firms reports that it expects to be able to announce in the near future the sale of a small property on one of the business streets, while another firm reports receiving inquiries for prices on Yates Street property in the retail business area.

During the past eighteen months there has been a striking decrease in the number of vacant stores in the retail business area, there now being hardly any vacancies in what might be called the downtown shopping district. Rental agencies report a considerable decrease in the number of vacant houses, and very few vacancies in apartments and duplexes.

Government Starts Forestry Training Camps in Province

Four Camps Scheduled, One at Cowichan Lake—After Training, Youths Will Cut Fire Trails and Help Forest Rangers—Enrolling Monday

GOVERNMENT plans to train and employ 350 men between twenty-one and twenty-five years of age for four months this year on forest work were announced officially yesterday by Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labour. Mr. Pearson said the scheme would cost between $75,000 and $100,000, but would have definite results in the training of a considerable group of young men in forestry work.

BOTH IN READINESS TO ENTER CONFLICT

A campaign in Ethiopia must be assured especially of the assent of Great Britain. Britain can invoke the 1908 agreement should she desire to protest Italian measures.

The Italian attitude on this question is that from the moment her colonies of Eritrea and Somaliland are menaced she can resort to full liberty of action. The Italian-Ethiopian treaty provides, however, for a commission of conciliation and arbitration to settle disputes. The commission can regulate the incident at Addis Ababa, but Italy contends the commission is not qualified to make a complete adjustment of boundary difficulties.

AUTHORIZES INTERVENTION—The fact that Ethiopia is a member of the League of Nations authorizes all other member nations to intervene for the prevention of war.

It appears beyond doubt that the various diplomatic phases of this Ethiopian-Italian question must be much more clearly defined before any actual war can develop.

TO INSIST ON RIGHT

LONDON, May 17 (AP)—Great Britain and France will insist upon their right to advise Italy regarding its treatment of Ethiopia, under terms of promises made by Premier Mussolini at the recent Stresa conference, it was said authoritatively tonight.

The three powers will hold private conversations in Geneva next week on the subject, it was disclosed, at which time the Anglo-French stand will be made clear.

The Cabinet held special meetings today and discussed both the threat of war between Italy and Ethiopia and Great Britain's plans for expansion of her air force.

Although the council of the League of Nations meets on Monday in Geneva on the Ethiopian question, the Anglo-Franco-Italian talks will be carried on separately, Anthony Eden, Lord Privy Seal, will leave for Geneva tomorrow.

ARBITRATORS NAMED—ADDIS ABABA, May 17 (CP-Havas).—Ethiopia today named her two arbitrators to sit as members of a commission of conciliation and arbitration in her dispute with Italy. They are Albert de Lapradelle, French jurist, and Professor Pittman Potter, formerly of the University of Wisconsin. The latter is reputedly a member of the "brain trust" of Emperor Haile Selassie.

The selection was announced in a note in reply to a sharp protest from Rome, in which the Italian Government charged Ethiopia with delaying negotiations.

The Italian note of protest informed the Ethiopian Government that Italy had already appointed its representatives, in accordance with the treaty of 1928, and would name the men as soon as it heard of a similar concession from Addis Ababa. Havas had previously learned from Rome that the two Italian arbitrators were Luigi Mareacotti, a member of the diplomatic corps, and Raffaele Montagne.

SEATTLE, May 17 (AP).—A spectacular fire, visible over a wide expanse of water on Lake Washington, tonight destroyed the Kirkland Woolen Mills, which were no longer in operation.

MAINLAND MOB SCENES SCORED

Relief camp men, who voluntarily walked out of camps of the Department of National Defence and flocked to Vancouver, where they have been since, were given plain warning by the Provincial Government yesterday to separate themselves from trouble-makers seeking to precipitate a clash with constituted authority.

Transportation, said a high official of the Government, was waiting for the men willing to go back to camp, pending ultimate settlement of the issue. Meanwhile, mob scenes, obstruction, and terrorist tactics to deter men from returning to camp will be firmly dealt with, it was intimated.

ABUSES CITED

Government officials have taken full cognizance of the fact that whereas only approximately 1,200 men left camps under Federal control, demonstrations by 3,500 men were said to be taking place in Vancouver. Picketing of trains to stop men returning to camp has been open and violent, culminating recently in the beating and ejection from a train of two men at New Westminster who had nothing to do with the issue.

Provincial authorities take a grave view of these activities, and will support Vancouver City in any action found necessary to preserve law and order to the full.

TO HOLD ANNUAL MEETING MAY 27

Annual Election of Officers of Y.M.C.A. Will Take Place—Monthly Session

The annual meeting of the Y.M.C.A. will be held in the association rooms on Monday, May 27, at 7:30 o'clock, it was announced last night by Frank Paulding, secretary.

Various departmental reports and a review of class work will be presented at the meeting. The election of officers will take place at a meeting of the newly appointed directors immediately after the annual session.

Retiring members of the board this year are J. V. Johnson, Colonel D. McCuan, W. F. Pinfold, W. T. Strath and Alderman Archie Willis. There is also a vacancy left by the death of W. Ellis Brown. The directors are elected for a three-year term. Alderman Willis, who only joined the board last year, did so to complete the term of Byron L. Johnson, M.P.P., who was leaving the city. He will stand for re-election, Mr. Paulding stated, along with

"Real Braw Laddies" Thrill Spectators In Folk Dancing

Big Gallery Cheers Novel Feature in Fine Spectacle Presented at High School Gymnasium in Connection With Musical Festival

DEAFENING applause, with stamping, clapping and cheering, greeted the Sixteeners Reel which brought real honest-to-goodness laddies on to the floor of the Victoria High School gymnasium yesterday afternoon in the thrillingly spirited Scottish folk dance.

This was the highlight of the opening season of the folk dancing classes of the festival that began yesterday. A gallery of about 500 or 600 lined the galleries of the auditorium to watch the proceedings, which this year attracted 550 boys and girls, the largest number ever to participate in these competitions.

The Sixteeners Reel, always a highly animated affair, broke all bounds of reserve on the part of the spectators, many of whom stood up on their seats to cheer when the adjudicator, Robert Jarman, of Winnipeg, announced that this entry had carried off the Radbourne Challenge Cup with its marking of 94, the highest awarded any of the competing classes in the course of the day.

HIGH PRAISE
"I have seen this Sixteeners reel done in Vancouver three years ago by adults. They did it excellently, but not anything like as well as the team this afternoon," said Mr. Jarman, in the preamble to his adjudication of Class 131 in which this spirited entry appeared. "The boys themselves joined in the applause which this statement evoked."

"Don't make the mistake of thinking that it is because I am a mere man and these were boys in this group that I am giving such high marks to do with it. It was extraordinarily well done, and I gave my hearty congratulations to the boys for being such good sports as to come in, and then, being in, dancing so delightfully as they did. Just at first, perhaps, they did look a little sheepish, but they made up for it most splendidly throughout the whole of the dance," the adjudicator said.

The wonderful vigor and spirit of the performance called for his special praise. Technically, also, it was admirably done, the inside double chain being very well carried out, the abundant free movement being made possible by the pattern chosen. Mr. Jarman admitted that for a time he was so fascinated by the dancing of one of the girls, who moved with exquisite lightness, that he was not taking much notice of the other dancers.

Spontaneous shouts of "Hurrah!" burst from a thousand throats as the adjudicator made his pronouncement that the Sixteeners, trained by Miss Nancy Ferguson, folk dance instructor at the high school, had won the event. This probably is one of the first school folk dance classes in Canada to give boys instead of girls in the boys' roles.

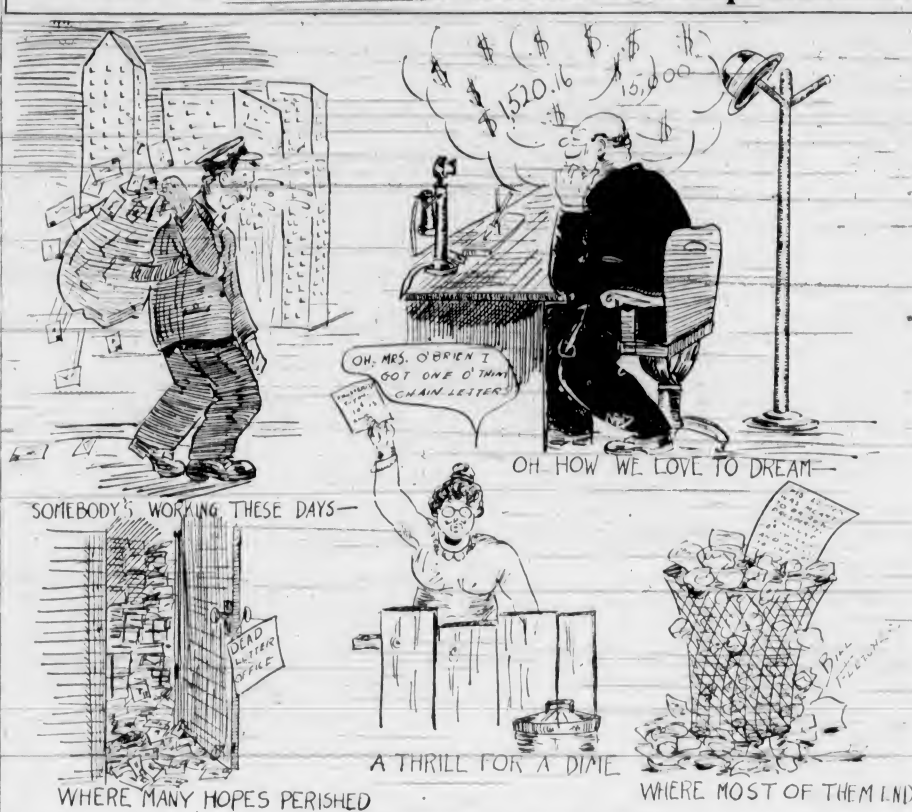

FINE SPECTACLE
The folk dances are always a very popular section in the Music Festival, and draw one of the most consistently large galleries of any section of this annual event. The fine advantage point which the galleries offer to spectators helps to make for the popularity of the thing as a spectacle, while the hundreds of competitors themselves constitute another big group of spectators ranged round the sides of the gymnasium floor awaiting their turn to compete.

Mr. Jarman showed great enthusiasm from his first adjudication onward, saying that he was much impressed with the spirit and vitality of all the dancers. Nearly every class that came on the floor was specially praised for its pose and the carriage of the head. Good team work was also most general.

HIGH MARKS
The markings ran higher than in the musical sections of the festival, four of the contestants receiving 90 or over.

In Class 130, public school entry, any English folk dance, the Girls' Central School was awarded a marking of 90 for its admirable performance of "Merry, Merry Milkmaids" carrying off the Victoria and District Teachers' Association Cup, held since last year by the Sir James Douglas School, South Park School entry, directed by Miss M. Croft, won the Bayward Challenge Cup, held since last year by Sir

MEMBERS of the financial group of the Victoria Day celebration committee, at a three-hour session yesterday morning, decided to set the official budget at $5,000.

For the regatta, $1,000 will be spent; $2,000 for parades, $250 for fireworks and $700 for general expenses. Alderman T. W. Hawkins, E. H. Harris and E. M. Whyte were selected to consider plans for bringing in street shows for the three-day festivities.

Golf Courses

Uplands and Victoria Golf Clubs may secure a reduction in their water rates from June to September, as the result of a meeting of the City Council water board yesterday afternoon, under Alderman Andrew McElvin, George Vale, and Royal Colwood Golf Clubs may also obtain cheaper water for the green.

If the municipality of Oak Bay will reduce water supplied to the Uplands and Victoria Golf Clubs to a rate of four cents per thousand gallons, instead of a flat rate of $300 per year, Meter rent will be $22.50 per month.

GORGE VALE CLUB
Gorge Vale Golf Club may be allowed water for four cents per thousand gallons for the fourth month period. The present rate is seven and one-half cents per 625 gallons.

Colwood may be supplied with a six-inch water meter and also given a rate of four cents per thousand gallons, instead of a flat rate of $300 per year. Meter rent will be $22.50 per month.

VICTORIA AND UPLANDS
Victoria and Uplands Golf Clubs will be required to use a minimum of $900 worth of water between June and September, before the proposed new rates would be given. On all four courses, watering would be permitted only between the hours of 10 p.m. and 8 a.m.

Alderman McElvin pointed out that these rates, if allowed by the council, would result in more revenue for the waterworks system, because the courses would use more water than at present.

TRAPPED BY FALLING WALL
Horror-stricken, Fireman Louis Charlier, thirty-two, and Oscar Perland, twenty-three, a volunteer, saw a stone wall bulge out above the top of their ladder. They tried to scramble down, but were too late. The wall fell on them with a roar. Both were killed.

Fireman G. Fleury, fifty, and Jean Lecuyer, fifty-two, were injured in the same fall. Fleury was taken to hospital with a fractured spine, fractured skull and broken leg. Lecuyer was also critically injured. Doctors say Fleury's case is almost hopeless, but grant the other a slight chance of life.

The outbreak had its origin in the kitchen of the institution, and spread rapidly through the building, 300 feet long by 75 feet deep, and rose to the four upper stories.

FUTURE IN POLITICS DEPENDS ON HEALTH

able to determine how much he could do until he tested his strength. He felt well and vigorous but realized he had overworked himself in the past and had a "tired heart." He would not attempt any task, Mr. Bennett said, unless he felt he could do it as well as it should be done.

One thing was certain, Mr. Bennett said, he would not attempt to carry such burdens as would effect his complete breakdown. "I am not going to expose myself," he said, "to such effort as will destroy me at once." It was understood Mr. Bennett proposes to take up his customary duties in Parliament and in the office of Prime Minister, always having due regard to his weakened condition, and after a reasonable rest will consult with his associates as to the advisability of his going through the election campaign.

DEPENDS ON CONDITION

If, in view of the complex political situation, involved by the imminence of a general election, Mr. Bennett's associates and the Prime Minister himself, feel his health is such that he should not expose himself to the rigors of a campaign, a new leader will be chosen. Mr. Bennett, it was suggested, he would nominate his successor. Such changes, he reminded questioners, were made after consultation with the Sovereign's representative in Canada.

For two hours this afternoon the Prime Minister submitted to questions from newspapermen and photographers who boarded the Ss Duchess of York at Father Point. He denied that Canada had entered into any commitments with respect to Empire defence, and reported continued satisfaction in Great Britain with the Canada-United Kingdom trade agreements. He was particularly enthusiastic in his description of the Jubilee ceremonies and declared words were inadequate to describe the splendour of the scene and the outpouring of loyal sentiment from the British people.

IN FAVORED PLACE

Canada enjoyed a most favored place in all the formal ceremonies and the hospitality of the British Government to the Dominion's Prime Ministers, who were the only official guests from abroad, left nothing to be much better than in left Canada," Mr. Bennett said, "but I do not know how much I can do until I try. The doctors say my heart is tired and obviously the only thing for a tired heart is rest. I believe I am capable of doing a reasonable amount of work. I do not want to boast that I am fit for anything nor do I want to indicate that I am not fit. I must feel my way."

Newspapermen and photographers found the Prime Minister among the interested group lining the route of the Duchess of York. He looked very much his normal self and was in a jovial mood. Throughout a very pleasant passage he had been active in all shipboard activities.

During the traditional concert held for the Seaneans' Benefit, on the last night at sea, Mr. Bennett delivered a ten-minute speech, and the collection taken was the largest in the history of the liner, members of the crew reported.

"There had been some talk while he was in London with respect to the next Imperial Conference, Mr. Bennett said, but neither the place nor the date had been fixed. He assumed it would be some time in 1936, to allow ample time for any changes that might be deemed desirable. In the trade agreements, discussion regarding the Empire agreements, while he was in London, had not affected Canada, but had been between the United Kingdom and other Dominions.

"From those qualified to comment I heard expressions of great satisfaction."

action in our last budget," Mr. Bennett said. There had been some expressions of opinion three years ago that Canada should not have a woolen industry, he said, but in the meantime British woolen and cotton textile exports to Canada had increased and there was a much better feeling.

Mr. Bennett would not discuss the possibility of Hon. H. H. Stevens re-entering the Government, nor would he talk of the domestic situation in light of his four separation from active participation in Dominion affairs. He would not give any approximate date for the general election, nor was he in a position to discuss Canada's stand with respect to Japanese trade, nickel exports used for munitions, or the forthcoming negotiations for a United States-Canada trade treaty.

FIRST UNITED CHOIR WINNER OF CONTEST

scored three marks more than their nearest rival.

BIG AUDIENCE

The largest evening audience of the entire week was present, practically filling the church. Evening activities are transferred to the Royal Victoria Theatre tonight for the closing programme of the festival, which, the adjudicators announced last night, would introduce a surprise element in addition to the already scheduled numbers, including the winner of the Rose Bowl contest, selected teams in the folk-singing class, the male choir—conducted by St. Cecilia Indian, and two or three instrumental ensembles.

MAGNIFICENT WORK

"You have heard some magnificent choral singing in this fine contest between these two choirs," Dr. Gordon Slater said in beginning his adjudication of Class 2, where the choir of First United and Metropolitan United Churches came into competition.

A fault in common, for which he criticized both choirs, was for using piano accompaniment instead of organ. The Brahms number, particularly "simply shouting for the organ," he did, however, especially compliment Edward Parsons for his fine accompaniment of the Metropolitan Church Choir in the first number, Brahms' "How Lovely is Thy Dwelling Place," this being a model of its kind.

There were both tremendously difficult compositions, and once more the selection committee was congratulated on the choice of numbers that put the choirs to a thorough test. The First United Choir gave a good opening which would have been improved by being a little more hushed. Throughout the tenors gave a splendid lead. Sopranos were warned to watch their top notes. The rendering had excellent vitality. In the second number the same choir gave some very fine characteristics, and there was some magnificent choral singing the descent being particularly good.

The Metropolitan Church Choir had magnificent body of tone, but was warned against using its wealth prodigally. The texture was excellent in the first number, but the architecture was not satisfactory. In the second number, Baird's "Blessed City, Heavenly Salem," the choir went off pitch slightly, and a shade more movement was needed in some places. Both choirs were criticized for dropping pitch slightly when singing softly, the remedy for this being deep breathing, and the raising of the chest and shoulders.

A HIGHLIGHT

On this, his first appearance during the evening in the role of adjudicator, Dr. Slater seized the opportunity to speak of the pleasure he had experienced in the music, which had afforded him the real highlight of the festival in the Bach ensemble group.

"One of the most interesting classes I have come across in any festival anywhere in my pretty extensive experience of festival judging," he stated. "His appearance in the programme gave me a morning of extreme loveliness."

THE CAROL

An interesting talk on the history of the carol, showing how curiously the Pagan and Christian were intermingled, was given by the middle of the carol class.

The carol was one of the oldest forms of melody, dating back to pre-Christian times and carrying in it the relics of paganism. When the early Christians came to England they found the old Druids dancing their dances round the holly and ivy. Being very good musicians, they did not say that this was wrong and must be stopped. They just altered the old carols with the result that in the old carol "The Holly and the Ivy," the old Pagan idea survived in the first two lines, while the Christian idea was to be found in lines three and four. This continued through all verses. The point brought out was that the original folk-dance tunes had left the carol in the hands of the Christians, and that the Pagan character should not be overlooked in the singing of them. Christmas had come back to something of its earlier character in recent times and was once more one of the most joyous of our festivals.

THE WINNERS

The Tacoma Carolers sang as their test-piece "Joseph Was A Walking," and "Lo, How A Rose." The first of these, "Joseph Was A Walking," was a carol of the type to make of their work was that it was too slow, being lacking in the dancing rhythm which the people of the olden day gave it. He illustrated as the piano the lightness and lift that should be in the music. The second of the carols he thought much too sombre in character for the joyous season of Christmas.

The true folk-carols are such a glorious heritage that I hope on another occasion you will choose these older carols and give us a jolly Christmas," he said in closing his adjudications to the competitors.

To Pierre Tripp went the honors in the baritone vocal solo class, where he again experienced a very popular win over his two competitors.

For the spirit of his interpretations he was adjudicated the Junior ensemble class, which was won by the George J. Dyke String Orchestra.

It was work such as this accomplished by that group that gave promise of Victoria having a fine musical future in the future, the adjudicator said.

VICTORIA SYMPHONY

Again Arthur Benjamin referred to the possibilities of a permanent symphony orchestra in Victoria when adjudicating on the Junior ensemble class, which was won by the George J. Dyke String Orchestra.

It was work such as this accomplished by that group that gave promise of Victoria having a fine musical future in the future, the adjudicator said.

ORGAN PERFORMANCE

One of the outstanding events of the evening was the performance by Dr. Gordon Slater, organist of the Lincoln Cathedral, of Bach's famous prelude and fugue in D major. Dr. Slater, prior to giving his performance, described the piece as one of the finest of the great series written by the German composer, and unquestionably one of the most joyous.

It began with the scale of D major, and was followed by heavy chorales. The first section of the prelude was built up on a motif in the middle section there was a treble figure leading up to a point of repose. It has one of the most remarkable harmonic passages in musical literature. The harmonic progression was for the movement of the most daring of that day. The piece also was remarkable for its thickness of harmony. The fugue was one of the jolliest, and ended on a buoyant and joyous note.

FAULTLESS TECHNIQUE

Dr. Slater possesses faultless technique. He did, however, especially compliment Edward Parsons for his fine accompaniment of the Metropolitan Church Choir in the first number, Brahms' "How Lovely is Thy Dwelling Place," this being a model of its kind.

There were both tremendously difficult compositions, and once more the selection committee was congratulated on the choice of numbers that put the choirs to a thorough test. The First United Choir gave a good opening which would have been improved by being a little more hushed. Throughout the tenors gave a splendid lead. Sopranos were warned to watch their top notes. The rendering had excellent vitality. In the second number the same choir gave some very fine characteristics, and there was some magnificent choral singing the descent being particularly good.

FINE ACCENTUATION

The First United Choir had a nice pace and nicely-blended parts. There was good rhythm and the words extraordinarily clear. The group had an easy sense of nuance and the accentuation was done correctly. Word accentuation was everything in madrigal work, the parts did not come at all, the adjudicator contended.

The Wednesday Trio Club won the small vocal ensemble class, for which the Gilbert and Sullivan Trophy, presented by the Burdick Club, was awarded. This group secured 167 points.

Their balance was good, and expression fair. The main harmonic structure was very well maintained and the rhythm very nicely sustained.

OUR SHOWING OF SUMMER DRESSES AND SUITS IN WHITE AND PASTELS

Soft, Sheer Fabrics Fashion Formal Frocks

SOFT, sheer fabrics fashion the formal frocks for Spring and Summer, replacing the velvets, satins and crepes, and even putting the popular taffeta in the shade. The latter has, however, merely transferred the seat of its activities, not abandoned them, for it is the material of which many of the smartest of the daytime costumes are made, coats as well as dresses.

Ruffles and airy puffs are the details of many of these "party" dresses, or slim, clinging lines. The more youthful version is shown, left, in a frock of black and white mousseline de soie with red velvet ribbon sash and a big red velvet poppy at the waistline in front. A matching red velvet purse with a jeweled clasp, a three-strand string of pearls and a pearl and rhinestone bracelet are the accessories worn with this dress.

FLOWER PRINTED CHIFFON
The dinner dress at right is a flower printed black chiffon over a pink slip. The flowers are cut out and applied to a black net yoke. The belt of black velvet ribbon with a loop and two ends, is caught by a jeweled buckle.

The two hats shown in centre are, top, a shallow model of black onion skin straw with a rolled brim justing forward like the prow of a boat. It is trimmed with a band and choux of black velvet ribbons. Notice the diamond and sapphire bar pin which holds the wide, crisp collar of the costume.

THE CHILD
By REGINALD H. WIGGINS, M.D., C.M., L.M.C.C.
STORIES OF THE BIBLE AND TALES OF FOLKLORE
The stories from the Bible cannot be discredited because they do not fit in with our thought and ways of thinking, and because they are old. They are good because their values are true. The lessons they convey are worth while.

We have to help the young child in pointing out the lesson and distinguishing between that which is real and that which is not. Later his greater experience of life and new powers of thought will enable him to distinguish between the imaginary and the values.

The Bible, which has enriched so many great lives, is worth fighting for, worth bringing youth to love and rely upon. But it must not be offered to them as dusty, uninteresting stuff. It must reach them as a vital power and have some relation to their problems. If this is done, it will be their great spiritual and mental mainstay in future life.

There is another voyage of spiritual discovery on which we parents can launch our children—that of the folktales of the people of other races. Here we can appeal to the child's adventurous imagination and his divine gift of surprise.

Through the early tales of other people, their thinking, their customs and their life, the child's experience will be enriched. From folktales the child can be led to the great sagas and epics, to the great Bibles and Gospels of mankind. More benefit will be derived if they are read aloud together in the family.

The child's life consists of adjusting himself to new conditions. Fears and doubts are his obstacles. These will be hurdled if early he makes his transition from the Bible story and folklore to the vision of spiritual and moral perfection.

Diocesan Board Holds Meeting at Sooke Hall

Service of Consecration of Co-Adjutor Bishop at Christ Church Cathedral Set for June 29
—Appeal Is Made for Books

Following a delightful drive, the diocesan board was welcomed at Sooke Hall yesterday morning by members of the Sooke and Saanich branches. Mrs. Greenwood expressing a welcome in the name of the combined branches.

The diocesan president, Lady Lake, took the chair at 11 a.m., and conveyed a message from the bishop, announcing the arrangements made for the consecration of the co-adjutor bishop, to be held in Christ Church Cathedral on Saturday, June 29, to be preceded by a quiet day, which the W.A. members were urged to attend.

Arrangements were made for Mrs. Gilbert Ferrabee to address a public meeting on Friday, June 14, which will be open to all church members wishing to hear this outstanding churchwoman, it being Mrs. Ferrabee's last visit as the president of the Dominion Women's Auxiliary, an office from which she is retiring after eleven years of noble work.

A committee was appointed to arrange the place of meeting, which will be held in the afternoon. Members were asked to hold the date in reserve, also affiliated societies are to be notified.

The board has been invited to hold the June meeting at Mayne Island, and Captain Maude has advised the board that he will make his regular Wednesday sailing on June 19 direct to Mayne Island from Swartz Bay, reaching the island at 11:45 a.m., and leaving at 5 p.m.

Members are asked to make early reservations at the Vancouver Island Coach Lines depot, from where the bus will leave at 9 a.m.

The Dominion Dorcas secretary, Mrs. F. G. Belmer was welcomed as an honorary member of the diocesan executive, and gave a helpful talk on the work of the Dorcas department, urging that every branch contribute its share of providing the outfits for the residential schools, also hospital supplies, including layettes, which are greatly needed, and provide suitable work for girls' branches.

At the afternoon session, Mrs. W. H. Nelson was the special speaker, vouching of the work, commenced Fifty Years Ago. She pointed out that without the woman's auxiliary, the parishes would have to carry a burden almost double of that which they are assessed today, nor could the church have expanded its work as it has done during the past fifty years.

GIRLS' CAMP

There will be a church girls camp held during July, the girls' secretary, Mrs. Wilfrid Hartley, reported, and branches were asked to make it possible for girls to attend the camp who are unable to meet the charge themselves.

The girls' secretary also announced a summer school, arranged to be held in Victoria, and a leadership course, which will be of great value in providing much-needed leaders for girls' branches.

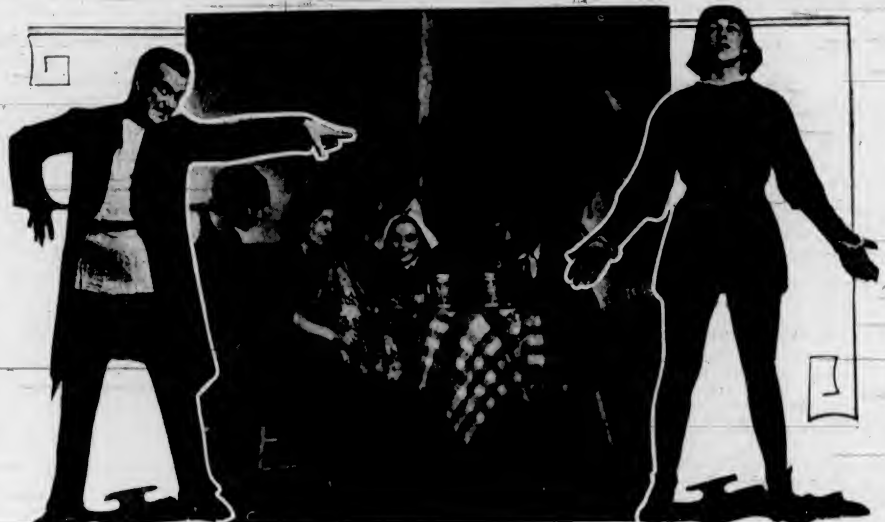

The secretary was given permission to visit girls' branches at Comox, Courtenay, Parksville, and at Duncan, where a joint meeting is to be held, similar to the successful junior rally held in Duncan on May 4.

The secretary of the extra-cent fund, Miss Evelyn Gayne, had a letter from Rev. Alan Greche, expressing his gratitude for the money voted by the board to provide new batteries for the "rendez-vous," and the magazine secretary also had received a letter of thanks from Mr. Greene for a shipment of books sent to him for his traveling library. He would like to have more books, up-to-date on religious subjects, and members and friends were asked to pass on books of this nature to the Columbia Coast Mission secretary, Mrs. Philip, room 22, Memorial Hall, who will ship supplies to Mr. Greene.

Rev. H. M. Bolton gave a helpful address at the noon-hour service. Intercessions at the afternoon session were by Mrs. A. A. Bengough, third vice-president, who distributed printed copies of the diocesan annual meeting, a standing vote of thanks being passed to Mr. A. A. Bengough for his valuable assistance to the board in the compilation and production of the report.

Mrs. C. W. Brookes expressed the thanks of the board to the Sooke and Saanich branches for their kind hospitality and arrangements made for the meeting.

Little Stories for Bedtime

Buster Is Driven Almost Crazy

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

If Buster Bear thought that he could get rid of his noisy tormentors just by going off and leaving them he made a great mistake. There is nothing in the world Blacky the Crow and Sammy Jay delight in more than tormenting some of the bigger people who wear fur. They really love to spoil the hunting of Reddy Fox and Old Man Coyote, and they do it whenever there is a chance. But to be able to torment great, big Buster Bear is even greater fun. When Buster left the tall tree in the top of which Prickly Porky the Porcupine had found safety, he meant to skip away where it was quiet and peaceful. But he soon found that he was simply taking all the noise with him. Blacky the Crow and all his relatives and Sammy Jay simply followed along, flying from tree to tree just above him. And how they did shriek at him!

"Buster Bear couldn't catch Prickly Porky, ha, ha, ha!" cried Sammy Jay.

Buster shuffled along faster and faster and pretty soon he began to run. It was of no use at all. He isn't the least bit of use for anyone to try to run away from those who can fly because the little people who can fly can travel faster than those who run. The only thing to do in a case like that is to get out of sight, and that isn't very easy for such a big fellow as Buster Bear to do. Every once in a while he would look up and growl and snarl at the noisy crew in the tree-tops above him. But this only made them shriek the more.

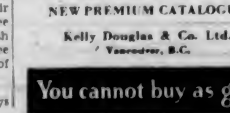

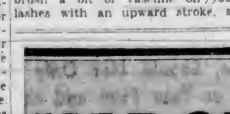

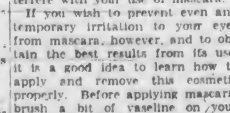

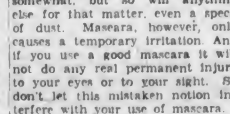

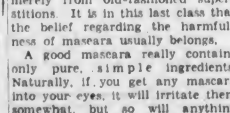

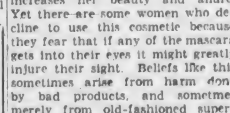

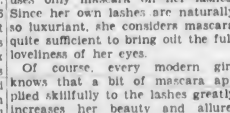

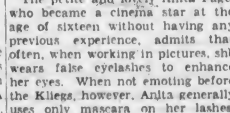

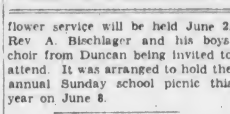

Buster hoped that after a while his tormentors would grow tired of following him, but he hoped in vain. He didn't use anything but his nose to do, and they were were

In removing mascara from the lashes, stand over a basin of tepid water, and with a bit of absorbent cotton, wash the water over your eyes until all the mascara has been removed, keeping your eyes tightly closed during the process. After this, cold-cream your entire face. This procedure will remove any remaining bits of mascara. WILL TALK ON CHAIN LETTERS

Dr. Clem Davies to Deal With Many Subjects at Empire Theatre

Dr. Clem Davies, at his evening service at the Empire Theatre, will answer the following questions: "In view of this being Life Insurance Week and that the Bible states we should not lay up in store for the future, will you answer the query: Is not life insurance a part of the old system which is dead?"

"Can any government or party bring about a new system?" "What event of much significance, according to the Great Pyramid, is to take place on December 31 next?"

"How are the young people to know when they are really in love or only attracted by sex appeal?" "Why should boys be brought from England to be placed in a farm school at Duncan when so many of our own Canadian boys and girls cannot get work?"

"Should a beer licence be granted to a certain club near the Gorge, where thousands of children bathe during the summer?"

"Since the chain letter idea is generally regarded by thoughtful people as a real threat to the present monetary system, and since the monetary system is a private monopoly, do you not think the chain letter idea should be accordingly encouraged?"

"In view of the fact that Britain has abandoned definitely the peace profit and is now busy building battle planes, would you say that war is a certainty this year or next?"

"Granted a world war is coming, what do you advise one to personally do in a constructive individual way as a personal programme?"

"What is your frank opinion of the Jubilee awards, in the matter of the giving of service medals locally?"

"Why do you believe and preach 'British-Isreal'?"

Anglican Bishop Proposes Joint Action With United Church

The Anglican bishop of Saskatchewan, Rt. Rev. Walter Burd, has approached the United Church presbytery of his area both in person and by letter, according to Dr. Ernest Thomas, writing in The Christian Century, of Chicago, with the request that arrangements be made to prevent overlapping in spiritual ministrations.

He suggested that each community be assigned to one of the communions, that all share alike in the Lord's table, that there should be one church for common worship with one pastor, every member retaining membership in his own church, and that the church building be available for periodical use by officials of the other communion for administering the sacraments according to the rites of that body.

The United Church Home Mission Board, according to Dr. Thomas, has welcomed the scheme by asking the whole Anglican episcopate throughout Canada to consider the possibility of some such policy being generally adopted.

Mortals and Immortals Is Sunday Topic

"Mortals and Immortals" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in the Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday. The golden-text is: "In the way of righteousness is life; and in the pathway thereof there is no death" (Proverbs xii, 28).

Among the citations, which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Lead me in Thy truth and teach me, for Thou art the God of my salvation; on Thee do I wait all the day" (Psalms xvi, 5).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health, With Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The loss of earthly hopes and pleasures brightens the ascending path of many a heart. The pains of sense quickly inform us that the pleasures of sense are mortal and that joy is spiritual."

He suggested that each community be assigned to one of the communions, that all share alike in the Lord's table, that there should be one church for common worship with one pastor, every member retaining membership in his own church, and that the church building be available for periodical use by officials of the other communion for administering the sacraments according to the rites of that body.

The United Church Home Mission Board, according to Dr. Thomas, has welcomed the scheme by asking the whole Anglican episcopate throughout Canada to consider the possibility of some such policy being generally adopted.

THE SERVICES AT ST. JOHN'S CHURCH for the Fourth Sunday after Easter will consist of Holy Communion at 8 o'clock, Morning Prayer and sermon at 11 and Evening and sermon at 7:30.

The rector, Rev. Canon Chadwick, will preach at the 11 o'clock service, and will speak on the Easter theme of "The Lord's Day." Reference will be made to the work of the Lord's Day Alliance in Canada.

In the evening there will be an organ recital by G. J. Burnett before the service, commencing at 7:10 o'clock. During the

OPPOSE LOWER INTEREST RATE

Insurance Concerns Against Reduction in Charge to Policyholders

Reduction of the rate of interest on loans to policyholders is being strongly opposed by the life insurance companies as injurious to policyholders themselves. Summarized, the official position of the companies is that:

"The limitation by legislative enactment of the maximum rate of interest chargeable on loans on life insurance policies to any figure lower than 6 per cent would adversely affect the companies and would be against the interests of policyholders."

proposal it is essential that the relationship of policyholders to the companies should be kept in mind. Except for the relatively negligible interest of shareholders, the life insurance companies are composed of their members, who are the policyholders. The funds administered by the companies originate with the policyholders—in the form of premiums, and are in reality the totals of their individual equities. Any legislation which adversely affects these funds, therefore, adversely affects the individual equities of policyholders.

"Moreover the earnings on the invested funds are a primary factor in the determination of premium rates, policy guarantees and privileges, and dividends; reductions in earning power must inevitably be reflected in upward adjustments of rates, reductions in dividends, or modification of guarantees or privileges, all of these. The question of earnings is closely interwoven with policy values and cost of insurance."

"There seems to be no justification for any legislative action undertaken to benefit policyholders who are to be provided financial aid to the family of a breadwinner removed by premature death, and to provide funds for the sustenance of the insured himself should he survive to old age. Cash surrender and loan privileges guaranteed in policies are consequently secondary and incidental provisions and should not be encouraged to the prejudice of the primary purpose of the insurance."

"A low rate of interest on loans, which would encourage policyholders to borrow, would have the effect of impairing needed family provision, since loans are in effect a borrowing from beneficiaries. Borrowing, moreover, conduces to voluntary or involuntary terminations of policies, the surrender experience on policies that have been borrowed upon being several times as great as it is upon policies as a whole. This is an effect of serious social import."

"The life insurance companies, therefore, while recognizing that the loan privilege may at times be a great convenience to a policyholder, endeavor to educate their policyholders, first as to the undeniably strength of the second best which row on their policies, and second, as to the desirability of repaying any policy loan as soon as possible, for which repayment the companies always offer special facilities, such as the repayment at any time, without notice, of any amount."

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

THE ELECTRO-CARDIOGRAPH WHICH MEASURES THE HEART BEATS

You may wonder how the electrocardiograph works and what the "writing" means as the doctor carefully reads it. The electrocardiograph simply records how the heart is beating—the strength of the first beat which pushes the pure blood from the left side of the heart through the large vessel above it to all parts of the body, and the strength of the second beat which pushes the used or impure blood from the right side to the lungs only, to be purified.

There is a "spot" or node, in the upper right side of the heart which is the "pacemaker," setting the pace for the heart rate, and also two other nodes which start the heart contracting, but the trouble is that every cell in the heart has the power of contracting and may start the heart contracting "out of turn."

Thus when the heart doesn't beat in its regular way it may be due to some trouble in one of the three regular "nodes" or some single cell paring with the heart when it pumps the blood. The height of these up-strokes or if they are nearly "level" or even below level when they should extend upward gives valuable information to the physician.

These machines are usually found only in hospitals and in the offices of heart specialists, because like an efficient X-ray outfit they are costly to install. Your doctor makes use of the electrocardiograph as he does the X-ray, when he wishes to confirm his own findings beats, when the heart beat missed now and then, or when the first and second beats ran together, it showed trouble with heart muscle, with the vessel feeding the heart muscle, or with the node or spot where the impulses start.

By reading the "writing" made by the electrocardiograph and comparing with the writing made by a normal heart, the trouble and its probable cause could be learned just as the X-ray film reveals trouble in the lungs, stomach or elsewhere in the body.

The up-strokes are the "waves" paring by the heart when it pumps the blood. The height of these up-strokes or if they are nearly "level" or even below level when they should extend upward gives valuable information to the physician.

LECTURE ON LONDON WILL BE GIVEN HERE NEXT TUESDAY NIGHT

A popular lecture on "London, Its Sights and Treasures" will be given by E. E. Richards on Tuesday, May 21, at 8 o'clock, in the schoolroom of St. John's Church, Quadra and Mason Streets, under the auspices of the wardens and committee.

Upwards of 150 excellent views will be placed on the screen. Beautiful slides will depict the coronation ceremony in Westminster Abbey, the twenty-fifth anniversary of which was recently commemorated in the great thanksgiving service in St. Paul's Cathedral, and by Empire-wide expressions of loyalty and joy.

The sounds of "Big Ben" and the famous chiming of St. Margaret's Church will be reproduced. New subject matter will be introduced and leading artists will render patriotic songs. The proceeds are for the church funds. Bishop G. E. Lloyd, D.D., will preside.

What Today Means

"TAURUS" If May 18 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:15 a.m. to 12:15 p.m., from 2:15 to 4:15 p.m., and from 7:15 to 9:15 p.m. The danger periods are from 8:15 to 10:15 a.m. from 4:15 to 6:15 p.m., and from 9:15 to 11:15 p.m. Moral suasion will accomplish far more today than physical force. The loss of temper is likely to lead to the disarrangement of carefully laid plans, so should be avoided. Bona fide conversation in public places will be offensive and is likely to be resented. Today should be an auspicious one for pleasure-seekers, providing good taste is used in the selection of entertainment. Friends may be responsible for your being agreeably surprised. The old saying that "money has wings" may be true in so far as you are concerned, as it would seem some of it will soon be flying in your direction. Today is conducive for unintentional errors occurring. The wise man and woman will count their change. Married and engaged couples, as well as those in the midst of courtship, will be well rewarded if they make up their minds to be good humored. Should things not turn out the way you expected them to, it will pay to be a good sport and smile. If a woman and May 18 is your birthday, you may have every right to breathe a sigh of relief, for the indications are that the next twelve months will have much more in the way of happiness to offer than those just passed. Let new hopes inspire ambitious dreams for your future success. There is a likelihood that your opinion will be requested on an important subject. Weigh carefully what you have to say, as a hasty expression of your thoughts on the topic may later on be subjected to reversal. You should be able to do day, avoid being ultra conservative with the needle or paint brush, and probably have a talent for decorative window dressing, as well as selling. Your home, especially if you have a husband and children, should be a safe haven, reflecting love, as well as contentment. The child born on May 18, as soon as it passes the age of infancy, must be taught the importance of being both considerate and unselfish. If a man and May 18 is your natal reversal, you should be able to do day, avoid being ultra conservative

Your business success may depend in your being progressive and wide-awake. Law, medicine, politics, geology, mineralogy, engineering, as well as theology, are among the activities in which you may successfully engage. LONDON, May 17 (CP).—About 100 whales have been marked with long steel bullets fired by the members of the Antarctic scientific expedition aboard the ship William Scoresby. The object of this was to find where whales go in various seasons. A reward of one pound is offered for each bullet recovered. The ship returned here yesterday.

ATLANTIC LINER SOLD FOR SCRAP

MONTREAL, May 17 (CP).—Out of active service for the past several years, the Melilla, of the Canadian Pacific Steamships Line, has been sold and will be broken up. It was announced today that the Melilla, which formerly plied the Atlantic Ocean between Montreal and Glasgow, was sold to Italian shipbreakers for about $180,000.

HOSPITAL AID BEING SOUGHT

St. Joseph's to Hold Tag Day to Help Finances—Many Charities Supported

Citizens are reminded that today an appeal will be made for funds in aid of the St. Joseph's Hospital, pioneer institution of this city. Taggers will be at every street corner, and people are asked to donate generously, inasmuch as the need for financial assistance is great owing to the many indigent patients handled by the hospital as a consequence of the depression.

The St. Joseph's Hospital performs many quiet charitable acts of which the public generally is not aware. It is true of most important institutions that they seldom get the recognition they deserve for the many charitable acts they perform.

In the treatment of indigent patients, the hospital often has to absorb the cost of not only accommodation, meals and nursing, but laboratory, X-ray, operation room, medicine and other extraordinary costs.

It is these items that make it so necessary that the citizens support the hospital on its tag day, especially as the institution has to spend large sums annually keeping abreast with medical science.

A small piece of equipment designed for the treatment of patients undergoing X-ray treatment was purchased recently. It cost $350. It is such costs that add to the financial problems of hospitalization.

5:30 p.m.—Amelia Earhart, famous woman flyer, and Lulu McConnell, popular Broadway comedienne, will share stage artist honors during Al Johnson's "Shells Chateau," with Vic Young's orchestra and Peggy Gardiner and Jack Stanton, vocalists.

5:30 p.m.—"Carfare Carnival," popular Pacific Coast programme, will return to coast-to-coast N.B.C. network. KOMO.

8:30 p.m.—Dance music will be featured on the tag day, especially as the institution has to spend large sums annually keeping abreast with medical science.

Asthma Prevalent in B.C.

Thousands Successfully Restored to Health by Famous Herbal Remedy

DISTINCTLY BETTER AFTER TAKING HARRIS WONDRO FOR BRONCHIAL ASTHMA

Dear Sir: Three years ago I started suffering from Bronchial Asthma. I tried many different treatments but derived no lasting benefit from them. A friend persuaded me to try Harris Wondro, and I did so. It was the only medicine that has ever helped me. I was so improved after taking the bottle that I took three more and continued to improve until I was doubtless better. I can confidently recommend Harris Wondro to anyone who suffers from Bronchial Asthma. Yours truly, CINCINNATI, May 17 (AP).—The Reds gave the league-leading New York Giants a thorough thrumping today as they returned to their home grounds, winning the game, 6-2. In addition to the defeat, which left them in a virtual tie with the Brooklyn Dodgers, Bartell and Moore were injured.

Hubbell, in his first start since being injured, pitched a complete game, allowing only two runs, two hits and one walk. He struck out seven batters. The Reds' offense was led by Joe Mauer, who hit a home run in the fourth inning. The game was a significant blow to the Giants, who had been on a winning streak.

Makes Costly Error

A rather flabbergasted goalkeeper watched this play from the far side of the net. It was an attack from an unexpected quarter, and he made no effort to save. Craig, Chelsea centre-half (center) drove a shot into his own net during a match between the Pensioners and Wolverhampton Wanderers, as the English football season drew to a close. The game was played at Stamford Bridge. The mistake was costly, as Chelsea lost the match.

The goalkeeper, who was named in the match report, was criticized for his error. The match was a high-scoring affair, and the result was a surprise to many fans.

WHY IS IT "OTTOMAN"?

All manner of things have been named after individuals—from a sandwich to a nation.

That the latter is an extremely rare occurrence is indicated by the difficulty almost any one of us would have to name a single country (aside possibly from America) that is so-called after a particular person.

A great man indeed therefore must have been Ottoman, who became Sultan of Turkey at the beginning of the Fourteenth Century. After him the Turkish people were known as the Ottoman Empire—a name which has come down through more than six hundred years and which bids fair to go on forever.

In passing it might be mentioned that the piece of furniture known as an Ottoman is also so-called after the soft seat without a back, a style which was originally the vogue in Turkey.

The small boy had fallen into the stream, but had been rescued. "How did you come to fall in?" asked a bystander.

"I didn't come to fall in," the boy explained. "I came to fish."

CHAPTER XII

Then a quiver swept through me like an icy wind; with a pang I remembered my mission, my vow to Sir William. Darkness crowded me down; my head reeled. Yet I rose again to my knees. All round a thick night seemed to hem me in; I groped for my rifle; it was gone. Panic-stricken, I staggered up, drenched with dew, and saw the moon staring down at me.

Slowly I realized that I had slept; that death had passed me while I lay unconscious. But how far had death gone—and would he not return by moonlight, stealthily? Aye, what was that under the tree there, that shape watching me—moving, too—a man?

As I shrank back my heel struck my rifle. In an instant I was down behind the rock to prime with dry powder, but to my horror I found flint missing, charge drawn, pan raised. The shock stunned me for a moment; then I snatched at knife and hatchet, only to find an empty belt.

In fury and despair, I crouched flat with clinched fists, trembling for a spring; and at the same instant a tall figure rose from the bushes at my elbow, laughing coolly. "Greeting, friend," he said. "God save our country!"

Speechless and dazed, I turned to face him, but he only leaned quietly on a long rifle and chuckled. "There are some gentlemen yonder looking for you, young man," he said. "I sent them south, for somehow I thought you might not be looking for them."

Weakness had dulled my wits, but I found speech presently to ask for my knife and hatchet.

"Now! Now! Let us go slow, friend," he said mockingly. "Let us converse on several subjects before you begin bawling for your playthings. In the first place, your manners need polish. I said to you, 'Greeting, friend. God save our country!' but you make me no polite reply."

And the big fellow continued to stand there, in his stately buckskins and his cockatoo cap, grinning down at me with careless good humor, waiting for me to speak.

"If you please," I said weakly, "give me my hatchet and knife and receive my thanks. Come, my good fellow, you detain me, and I have far to travel."

For answer he snatched my rifle from me.

"Now," he said gruffly, "you come into camp and take supper, or I'll knock your head off and drag you in by the heels."

Aching with fatigue and mortification, I stood there so perfectly helpless that the great oak fell laughing again, and, with a shrug of good-humored contempt, handed me back my rifle as though I were an infant.

"Don't grind your teeth at me," he chuckled. "Come to the camp, lad. I mean no harm to you."

"I'm dog tired," I said weakly, making an effort to walk; but my knees had no strength in them, and I must have fallen except for his support.

Up, up we passed through the foggy moonlight, he almost dragging me. We finally reached a plateau, and after a minute or two I smelled the camp fire. Presently I saw a single tree in the darkness, all gleaming red, and in a moment a ruddy ring of light in the centre of which great logs burned and crackled.

Beside the fire was another courier-de-bois, a meagre little man, weasel-eyed and dinky as a Summer fox. He looked up sharply as we approached, but beyond a grunt, he paid no attention, and presently fell to stirring something in a camp pot.

There was a third figure there, too, seated at the base of a gigantic pine tree, a little Hebrew man, hithering his knees in his arms. Saul Shemuel, who came every Spring to Sir William for his peddling licence, and sometimes sold us children gaffs and ferret muzzles.

He bade me good evening in an uncertain voice, and did not appear to know me; yet, although I doubted that even Sir William could have recognized me now, I feared this man.

The big man brought me a bowl of broth and spread a blanket for me close to the blaze. Shortly a delicious warmth enveloped me within and without, and that was the last I remembered that night.

It was still dark when I awoke; the fire had become a pyramid of coals. By the dull glow I saw two figures moving; the big one presently crossed the dim crimson circle and sat down beside me, rifle balanced on his knee.

"I am awake," I whispered. "Is there any trouble?"

Without moving a muscle of his huge frame, the forest runner said: "Don't come into the fire, ring."

There a man been prowling under a sniffling our fire for the last four hours.

I drew myself farther into the darkness, shivering and rubbing my stiffened limbs.

"How do you feel?" he asked. "I told him I felt rested, and thanked him so earnestly for his great kindness to me that he began to chuckle to himself."

"Consider yourself fortunate, eh?" he repeated, rising to come and squat on his haunches beside me.

"Yes," said I, wondering what he found so droll in the situation.

"Ever hear of Catamount Jack?" he inquired after a moment.

"Yes, if you mean Jack Mount, the highwayman. But you are mistaken; the man who follows me is not Jack Mount."

"Sure?"

"Oh, yes," I said bitterly. "I should know."

"What do you know about Jack Mount?" he asked.

"Everybody knows he set fire to the King's ship Gnappe and started the rebels a-pitching tea overboard from Griffin's Wharf."

"Suddenly I stopped short and looked at him amazedly. He was Jack Mount! I did not doubt it for one moment."

And there was the famous Weasel, too—that little, shriveled comrade of his.

"Well," chuckled the forest runner, "do you still think yourself lucky?"

I managed to say that I thought I was, but my lack of enthusiasm sent the big fellow into spasms of smothered laughter.

"Now, now, be sensible," he said. "You know you've a belt full of gold, a string of good wampum in your sack, and as pretty a rifle as ever I saw. And you still think yourself in luck? And you're supping with Jack Mount? And the Weasel's watching everything from yonder hazel bunch. And Saul Shemuel's pretending to be asleep under that pine tree? Why, Mr. Cardigan, you amaze me!" he lisped mockingly.

So the little peddler had recognized me, after all. I swallowed a lump in my throat and rose to my elbow. With Jack Mount beside me, Walter Butler prowling outside the fire ring, and I alone, stripped of every weapon, what in heaven's sight was left for me to do?

He turned roughly on me, demanding what brought me into the forest; but I shook my head, lips obstinately compressed.

"Won't tell, eh?" he growled. "Well, I'll be cursed if you go free without a better accounting than a wag of your head!"

Cade Renard, the Weasel, had come up while Mount was speaking, and his bright little eyes scanned me warily.

"What's his business?" he inquired of Mount. "I've searched his pack again, and I can't find anything except the wampum belts."

"If you are a patriot," I said desperately, "you will leave me my belts and meddle only with your own affairs."

Both men turned and looked at me curiously.

"You are not a patriot," said Mount, after a silence.

"Why not?" I persisted.
